

The Crowton Story Archive
Terms and Conditions

In respect of any materials submitted by you to the Crowton Story link on the Crowton 150 website you grant the organisers of Crowton 150 any and all rights necessary to enable them to make the fullest use of them anywhere in the world including the right to edit, copy, alter, add to, take from, adapt or translate the materials. You agree that they may without further consent use such materials on websites or in other electronic form and in printed and broadcast formats anywhere in the world. You confirm in submitting the materials that they do not contain anything which is illegal, indecent defamatory or an infringement of copyright and that you have any necessary consents from any third parties who have any rights over, to or in respect of the materials or their content or their use or publication.

You agree that such personal data as you submit with the materials may be kept indefinitely for use in connection with the materials.

We will try to use all the materials we receive in some way but we do not promise to accept or use anything we are sent and uploading does not confer any rights in that respect.

The Courts of England and Wales shall have sole jurisdiction in relation to any dispute over the terms of this agreement which shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of England and Wales.